Dear BeneReps and Customers,

As announced last month in our What's New Section, due to the continuing rise in the cost of green coffee in 2011 we are increasing our prices. This is always a difficult decision for me personally, and even more difficult in these trying economic times when it is especially important to me to bring our coffee to you at the best value possible. As predicted, green coffee prices continued to rise during 2011, increasing 15-20 %. In order to keep our mission of GivingBack, this price increase is necessary; however our mission is also to bring our customers consistently delicious, premium quality, gourmet coffee at a much lower price. I believe we are still staying true to this mission even with the price increase. The larger coffee company's prices have continued to rise throughout 2011 and so by comparison, you are still paying between two to four dollars less per pound for the same specialty Arabica gourmet coffee. To help ease the transition we are offering free shipping for orders placed during the month of January. This will be automatically reflected in your order invoice. We hope you will continue to support Beneficio Coffee and as always hope you are enjoying our delicious coffee.

Wishing you a safe and Happy New Year!

Thank you,

Betty "Jinxi" Allen
